I got lost in Brussels and got on the wrong train to return to Rotterdam. I was put off in a station and locked into a waiting room for one hour and then put on a train back to Brussels. As we spoke English but on account of my Berlitz French book I finally got back to Rotterdam, just in time to change clothes for the dinner dance.

We left Rotterdam about 10 A.M. and arrived in Amsterdam about (11) eleven o'clock A.M. Amsterdam was mobbed with people everywhere so after some waiting around we left for the airport. We left there at 8 P.M. We had to change planes in Copenhagen and arrived in Stockholm about midnight. We are at the Grand Hotel.

Sunday Oct. 20, 1968. Stockholm

We went on a bus tour of Stockholm. The weather is cloudy and windy and cold. Our tour took us to the Royal Palace.

My camera quit working so I have probably lost all of my pictures.

We had dinner at a beautiful restaurant in the Opera House. It was a tremendous smorgasbord. A very famous place here.

Monday Oct. 21st, 1968

We toured the downtown shopping section of Stockholm today. The weather was nice. Tonight we had dinner in a beautiful, interesting restaurant named Grout's. The food was typical Swedish and no one spoke English there.

Tomorrow morning we have a call for 6:30 A.M. as we will be leaving for Kalmar on the plane at ten minutes to ten A.M.

Sund. Oct. 22, 1968

Aef and Britta and their two sons Per Olof and Magnus met us at the airport. Britta put on a Swedish Smorgasbord for dinner ^{at 5} that night.
Aef's son Soule and his wife Britt came over later and we all
went out for dinner and dancing,
at the big hotel in Kalmar.

Wed. Oct. 23, 1968

We went through an old castle in Kalmar. Then we went to see Alf's father and mother. His mother is Grandpa Carlsson's sister. They also served a huge Swedish Smorgasbord.
~~on the way to their place we~~
~~stopped at the I~~

Thurs. Oct. 24, 1968

We went through the glass factory at Orfars. We had lunch at Aps's cousin's house. Her husband is one of the artists at the glass plant. From there we went to Otto's home, who is a brother of Grandma Carlsson. A delightful day. Another smorgasbord at Otto's.

Fri. Oct. 25, 1968

Elmer and I walked around the town of Kalmar. Britta was preparing a big dinner. Her Mother and Ake, Galle and Britt and Solve come over for dinner in the afternoon and spent the evening. Ake showed slides and movies of his trip to the U. S. last summer.

Our schedule was to leave Kalmar Fri. Morning for Copenhagen but Britta and Ake wanted us to stay until Saturday so they could go with us to Copenhagen.

Magnus went home with Brittas Mother.

Sat. Oct. 26, 1968

We had breakfast and then took her Alop over to Britt and Soules apt. We then drove to Malmo which is about 150 miles from Kalmar. Alf left his car there and we all rode the fast hydro boat over to Copenhagen. The boat ride on the Baltic Sea took about 45 minutes.

Our rooms at the Hotel Royal were beautiful and Copenhagen is a wonderful place. We went out Sat. night at the Valentinia night club. We had dinner and danced and watched the floor show.

Sun. Oct. 27, 1968

We had breakfast in the coffee shop and Brett and Alf left about 11:30 to go back to Kalmar. We were all tired from being up so late Sat. night.
